Strong, Dependable Replacement For Factory Followers

High-visibility stainless steel follower replaces the factory follower in Remington 870 and 11-87 shotguns. These are turned from a solid piece of stainless-steel bar-stock. This multitasking replacement for your factory-installed magazine follower travels smoother in your magazine tube due to its reduced bearing surface. Won't break under spring pressure, won't rust and holds up to years of shooting. Bright stainless steel makes it easy to see how many rounds are left in the magazine tube. Ribbed side and drilled out center hole reduce weight without jeopardizing overall strength. These followers are a slotted design. Available in 12 gauge.
