Ergonomic Comfort, Less Fatigue, Maximum Control During Rapid Fire

Drop-in replacement for factory pistol grip is designed to give the tactical operator maximum weapon control with minimum fatigue. Every aspect of the shooter-to-weapon interface was analyzed and tested to improve on the USGI A2 grip and give the shooter the best control in any type of operational environment. One-piece construction with integral triggerguard ensures the operator's finger doesn't get caught between the guard and the trigger and eliminates other pinch points. Over-molding where the grip meets the receiver helps keep the hand positioned exactly where it should be during fast movement, long periods in the ready position, and during rapid or full-auto fire. Palm swell, arched backstrap, flared bottom with forward finger ledge, and molded-in stippling further ensure to a firm, stress-free grip on the weapon. Molded from durable, reinforced polymer that resists impact, temperature extremes, moisture, and most cleaning solvents and oils. Snug-fitting, synthetic rubber plug in the bottom pulls out to allow storage inside the grip. Cavities inside the plug provide rattle-free storage for two spare CR-123 batteries. Standard SE-1 model available in Black.
