Helps Cut Down On Shoulder Fatigue

Designed for law enforcement, sportsmen, and competitive shooters alike, these hydraulic buffers help reduce recoil, while diminishing wear and tear on parts. The sealed hydraulic cylinder is made of 17-4 stainless steel and features a nickel-plated cylinder rod with a high-impact striker cap. Hydraulic buffer easily replaces standard mass and spring buffer. Built to Mil-Spec standards, and U.S. Army tested, these buffers have been demonstrated to reduce cyclic rates, helping save ammunition and improve accuracy.
