APPENDIX CARRY RIG-GLOCK 17/22/31-BLACK-RIGHT HAND

Home

This product takes the centerline carry method to the highest level of concealment, functionality and comfort. The ACR is designed to mount between 12:30 and 2:00 for right-handed shooters. It is adjustable for both cant and ride depth. The shirt can also be tucked in over the weapon. What separates the ACR from other AIWB-holsters on the market is its extremely slim profile and adjustability. Most AIWB holsters are made from thick Kydex folded around the pistol, with a pair of non-adjustable loops attached at the widest part of the holster. That method of construction makes those holsters very bulky, hindering both comfort and concealability. It also makes the holster more likely to shift and tilt on the belt. In sharp contrast to that approach, the ACR uses an innovative offset pair of attachment points mounted to our signature slim-line pancake style of design. 1.5" belt loop.
