Dual-Mode Pin Aids in Making Fast Mag Changes While Keeping Your Rifle California Compliant

The Battle Arms Development BAD-QRRP Quick-Release Rear Takedown Pin is designed to work in conjunction with the BAD's California Magazine Lock (sold separately) to enable the smoothest, fastest California-compliant mag changes. The BAD-QRRP Quick-Release Rear Takedown Pin replaces the factory pin and offers two modes of operation: reload mode and takedown mode. In reload mode pull the BAD-QRRP part way out of the receiver (it's captured so it won't come out completely) to allow the upper to pop up just enough to unlock the California Magazine Lock so the magazine release button will work and you can drop the mag. The BAD-QRRP keeps the upper from opening too far. A quick 180° twist of the BAD-QRRP allows it to be pulled open like a normal takedown pin so the rifle can be opened for cleaning or maintenance. Dead nuts easy to install! Easy to operate Causes minimal disruption of your rifle's stock appearance Taking your rifle outside of Cali? Remove & replace with standard pin in second Rugged machined steel With the Battle Arms Development BAD-QRRP Quick Release Rear Takedown Pin installed, you can make quick magazine changes while staying on your sights and keeping your rifle compliant with California regulations. This product may not work on all receiver combinations.
