Drop the Mag Quickly & Confidently - Without Changing Hand Position

The Tandemkross Titan Extended Magazine Release solves one problem with the Ruger® Mark IV™ 22/45™: the factory mag release button is hard for younger shooters or those with small hands to operate without changing their grip. The Titan magazine release solves that problem! With each "Titan" Extended Magazine Release, Tandemkross provides two buttons. The checkered round button is taller and wider than the factory button, but still small enough so a shooter with larger hands won't accidentally activate it. The grooved, paddle-style button extends back toward the shooter, so it's just the ticket for junior shooters. You can even angle the paddle up or down for a custom fit on your Mark IV™ 22/45™. Ideal for young shooters, competition shooters, or shooters with small hands Robust steel and anodized aluminum construction for years of service Deeply textured surfaces for non-slip finger contact Available in Black or Silver - choose the color that matches, or contrasts with, your pistol The Tandemkross "Titan" Extended Magazine Release for Ruger® Mark IV™ 22/45™ is easy for any shooter to install. If you field strip a pistol and follow simple instructions, you can install the Titan. The Titan Extended Magazine Release also fits the following Ruger® pistols: Mark II™ 22/45™ 22/45 Mark III™ 22/45™ 22/45 Mark III™ 22/45™ 22/45 Lite Mark IV™ 22/45™ Mark IV™ 22/45™ Tactical Mark IV™ 22/45™ Lite
