Drop That Mag Faster and Easier

When it comes time to drop a magazine from your gun, it's critical to have everything work right to clear an empty or malfunctioning magazine as fast as possible for a fresh reload. The Agency Arms Syndicate Magazine Release, designed for the Glock® G43, makes it fast and easy to clear your gun. Each Agency Arms Syndicate Magazine Release is built 1/16-inch longer than an OEM magazine release, ensuring that the mag clears faster with less overall travel and pressure applied. The release pad itself is serrated and radiused, giving users a more-tactile surface for enhanced performance. Available only with an all-black finish, the Agency Arms Syndicate Magazine Release drops in without any modification to the frame or other components on the Glock® G43.
