Matches Your Magpul Furniture Perfectly and Protects Your Hands from Heat

Looking for full coverage for your Krinkov-style AK's handguard? That barrel heats up quickly, and the standard wood guard on the end of typical Yugos coming into the US doesn't do a great job of protecting your hand fully from the heat, so Manticore Arms stepped up with its Renegade Handguard Assembly designed specifically for the Yugo M85 and M92 AKs. The Manticore Arms Renegade Handguard Assembly, in particular, features a top cover made from a high-temperature thermoset polymer, which withstands intense heat from the barrel while preventing heat transfer to your support hand. The fore-end design provides a swell in the middle of the handguard, which both improves the feel of the gun and also mates the handguard design perfectly with the receiver.
