A Rugged Buttstock Designed to Give Your AR-15 A Great Feel

Daniel Defense has been a trailblazer in many aspects of the firearm industry, and the company continues to come up with great options for your AR-15. The Daniel Defense adjustable AR-15 buttstock is produced with a special glass-infused polymer that gives it added strength and durability. But that doesn't mean it's tough on your shoulder! This stock is topped with a rubber overmold that makes it comfortable to shoot and softens recoil. Designed to mount onto mil-spec buffer tubes, this Daniel Defense adjustable AR-15 buttstock is made to precision tolerances that prevent the rattle and movement encountered on so many of today's stocks. Two different butt pads are included with the stock, so you can find the length that best fits your body and gear. You'll also find QD sling-swivel attachment points on either side of the stock, giving you a completely ambidextrous system to work with.
