A new offering from Edgewood Shooting Bags, our slick material is an option that can be substituted on the contact surfaces (ears) of our rear bags and select front bags. The reflective surface of this material is impregnated with microscopic glass beads and backed with a reinforced fabric. This combination yields an extremely smooth surface along with the durability and longevity that has come to be expected from an Edgewood bag. There is no longer a need to coat your bag with talcum powder or cover it with used dryer sheets to achieve extremely smooth and rapid follow-up shots. This material allows shooters the best advantage possible to land all their shots on target before the wind changes. Bag ships unfilled.
