Buck the Wind with These Bullets

The Berger 30-Caliber Hybrid Target Bullets ensure that long-range precision shooters and reloaders have the ability to get the most out of their projectiles, thanks to an enhanced design that brings together two designs into one.

Developed by Berger Chief Ballistician Bryan Litz, the Berger 30-Caliber Hybrid Target Bullets incorporate both a secant and tangent ogive. The tangent ogive enables reloaders to choose the bullet-seating depth of their choice, giving them much more flexibility in cartridge construction. The secant ogive enhances performance against the wind. Diameter: 0.308 inch Weight: 215 grains Boattail bullet design The Berger 30-Caliber Hybrid Target Bullets, like the company's popular VLD projectiles, are designed for premium performance against the environment.
