A Redesigned Charging Handle for Your AR .308 Rifle

Purpose-built specifically for use on AR-style .308 rifles, the Wilson Combat Ambidextrous Charging Handle makes it easy and seamless to operate any DPMS- or SR25-pattern .308 rifle with either hand. Each Wilson Combat Bullet Proof Ambidextrous Charging Handle features oversized latches that can be manipulated easily, even when using gloved hands. The handles are machined from billet aluminum and feature a redesign that eliminates the weak points commonly found in mil-spec charging handles. There are three differently sized latches available for the Bullet Proof charging handle, so users can find the latch size that fits their firearm and shooting style best. All Wilson Combat Bullet Proof Ambidextrous Charging Handles are treated with a hard-anodized black finish and feature an extended upper shelf that deflects gas away from a shooter's face, making the handle great for suppressed firearms. The latches also feature heavy-duty springs and piston assemblies that keep the handle locked into position during heavy, full-auto fire.
