The GTS Tripod Camo Leg Wraps are designed for shooters who want maximum concealment without limiting the functionality of their tripod. Unlike compact covers, these wraps are built as full-length camouflage nets that can cover the entire tripod leg - even when fully extended.

Each wrap is made from lightweight, structured camouflage mesh that breaks up the straight lines and technical appearance of the tripod. This helps reduce visual signature in hunting and professional field environments, where hard edges and reflective surfaces can stand out against natural terrain.

The wraps are secured in place using durable elastic cords, ensuring a tight and reliable fit along the full length of the leg. Once installed, they remain stable during movement and position changes without interfering with leg adjustment or overall tripod performance.

In addition to camouflage, the netting also provides a light protective layer against scratches and minor abrasion, while maintaining minimal added weight. The breathable material prevents moisture buildup and dries quickly after exposure to rain or damp vegetation.

The GTS Tripod Camo Leg Wraps are available in Flecktarn and Stone Grey Olive, allowing you to adapt your tripod to different environments and operational requirements.

Full coverage. Reduced signature. No compromise on function.
